What used to be a train track bed is now a hiking trail.

As you might imagine, after being gone for nearly a week, then returning home and trying to get back into setting my mind to writing, there is just so much that I've learned while we were away that it would take several articles to relate. There are way too many links I could add to the above list, but in an effort to keep this somewhat short, I have to limit what I include. To those readers who keep sending links, I apologize for not being able to use all of them.

Please note specifically link #1, The Spartacus Letter, written by someone anonymously, yet clearly has tremendous knowledge of medical terminology and scientific facts. He/she outlines the way the virus we've all come to know and love interacts with our bodies; how it works and how it kills. After reading just the first six pages of the 48-page document, it has become difficult to believe this virus was created in nature or "accidentally" escaped

This is HUGE. There is no way "they" can explain this one: death is proportional to dose. The y-intercept is negative meaning that there are negligible "background deaths" which means...

>250K deaths, virtually all caused by the vaccine.

There is no other explanation.

FDA response: "we disagree" (citing no further details).

FDA and CDC panels ignore this result and hundreds of pages of "seems impossible to explain if the vaccine safe" data points.

patients then help them. This is echoed by Dr. Ardis (link #10). There is absolutely NO way that the medical experts who are insisting on these protocols are unaware of how things work. Spartacus explains WHY using intubation of patients and putting them on ventilators kills them. This is nothing short of murder and I'm not saying front-line doctors and nurses are guilty of murder. I'm saying that the people like Fauci, the CDC and FDA are guilty of it because they determine the protocols and enforce them. I'm not sure what it will take for people to wake up but there are clearly too many people who still trust the government ABC agencies, in spite of the fact that there is a growing body of actual evidence out there that proves otherwise. I'm not sure if people simply do not want to see it or cannot.

My parents laid to rest.

get it. Apparently, shortly before he died, he started feeling better, even started driving again and interacting with other people (he and his wife literally hid inside their home for over a year in

To date, my wife and I know of nearly 10 people personally who have died after taking the jab. The latest one just died this week, October 6. We were notified while out of town. He was in fairly good health for his age and took the vax earlier this year. By April, he began having severe problems with an increase in specific proteins in his blood. Doctors of course were "baffled." They didn't really know what to do though they knew what the problem was and what it was doing. This is because doctors have for too long been trained to treat symptoms not the actual problem that creates the symptoms. So another soul is dead, gone into eternity and people around him still don't abject fear of CV). Then, he took a serious turn for the worse. I don't know if he was hospitalized, but apparently he went downhill very quickly.

My wife just last week heard of another employee of the same company she works for, who passed away quite unexpectedly. This makes four just in the past few weeks. If we could turn back the hands of time and have the person not take the jab, would they still be alive today? These are people who are in good to great health, who all of a sudden die. No one expected it. It's one thing if you are driving and you become involved in a fatal collision. That's also unexpected but at least explainable. When a healthy person simply dies without any sort of warning, there should be many questions, but they aren't being asked. Everyone is afraid to discuss the elephant in the room.

Several of the above links also bear this information out and more fully explain things. People are dying and they are fully vaxxed. However, MSM is trying to tell us that the people who are dying are not fully vaxxed. This is because the CDC has stated that until a person is past the 14th day after their second jab, they are not considered fully vaxxed. So people who go into the hospital after they've received the first or second jab are considered not fully vaxxed if it is not beyond the 14th day after second jab. This means that they are counted as "unvaxxed" if they die before the "due" date. It starts all over again with respect to the booster. The MSM is playing the numbers game and the actual truth is not getting out there. It boggles my mind that people continue to believe the CDC and FDA are honest and simply want to help. Any mistakes they might make are chalked up to "human error" rather than deliberate subterfuge.

CV-19 has become severely divisive, pitting colleagues, family members and even Christians against one another. Fear of death will do that. Look to the videos #12 and 13 for more on this. Please also note the link 15 - an open letter to Anthony Fauci. This goes back to the AIDS epidemic of the 1980s and people had major problems with Fauci then. But it seems we learn nothing from history as we are there again and even in a worse state due to the vax mandate that is being foisted upon us. Oh, by the way, Biden has not - I repeat, has NOT issued a vax mandate. There is nothing in the federal registry.

Companies are simply forcing employees to take the jab or lose their jobs as though the mandate actually existed. Biden wants OSHA to issue the mandate but so far, they've not issued it either. We will see what happens.

We wanted to take a moment to thank everyone who prayed for our safety as we traveled by car to New York State to inter my parents in a small cemetery there. The Bible says to honor your mother and father and this was the last thing I could do to obey that command. For a few years their cremated remains had been stored on a shelf in our garage. It was only after I previously traveled to New York with my (ex) brother-in-law to inter the remains of my sister, his mom, his brother and a sister that I was reminded of the fact that my mother had mentioned to me before she died that she had a plot at a particular cemetery and that I could inter her and my father's ashes there. I had completely forgotten about it so upon my return home, I started looking through all her paperwork and found what I needed. It was then a process of calling the cemetery manager to verify, then to find out what else he might need. I made a box urn large enough to hold both my parents' ashes, had flat headstones made and we drove up.

While our main purpose in going to NY was to inter my parents, we also took the time to go to places where I grew up as a kid. We enjoyed getting together with folks we knew and during the trip, we were actually able to meet with a few folks I had not seen in over 50 years. Many of course had died or moved away but it was interesting to note how many who had at one point moved away, had returned to the area. The population of this particular town is around 300 or so and it was a great, safe place to grow up in as a kid.

At the same time, I was saddened to learn of some I knew as a kid who had committed suicide, had changed their gender outwardly and other things. The town itself had become somewhat run down since I was a kid, but in its heyday it was a very busy little town with large businesses, like farm supply companies, a creamery and a passenger railroad that came through starting in 1898 until it stopped in 1976. The train tracks have since been removed and the bed of the train track has now become a hiking trail. You can literally walk a total of 22 miles from one small village to the next mostly through beautiful trees overhead. We hiked a few miles with our dog who thoroughly enjoyed himself. I recall spending many days fishing along the river that flowed through the town. It was truly idyllic for me as a kid.

While we were in NY, we stopped at my favorite childhood restaurant specializing in rotisserie chicken, Brooks' House of Bar-B-Q. We stopped into get another T-shirt and then decided to order a half-chicken ala carte. On our way to the rest room before hitting the road again, we saw a gentlemen who had commented on my T-shirt (I was wearing a Brook's tee). He invited us to sit down with him, which we did. Turns out he is the second generation owner of Brooks'! We enjoyed our time with him. Then his son came by, the third generation owner. They were kind enough to let us go into the roasting room where the smell is unbelievably mouth-watering! The restaurant is celebrating 70 years of being in business.

Before we left, the older John Brooks gave me two Brooks' BBQ baseball caps. On the way home, we went to their website and ordered some sauces and a few other things. The time away was good and we are grateful that things went so smoothly for us. God, as usual, was good to us.

We plan on going back, Lord willing, because there's just something peaceful about that part of my life. It's not that you can reclaim it, but in some ways, it helps to remind ourselves of where we come from and where we are heading; what has in part, made me who I am in life.

I realize this particular article has not been overly biblical in the sense of going back to His Word and expositing it. I simply wanted to take a few moments to catch everyone up. My goal is to pull out portions of Malachi in the next article. Let me leave you with this, from Malachi 3:16:

*Then those who feared the Lord spoke to one another,
And the Lord listened and heard them;
So a book of remembrance was written before Him
For those who fear the Lord
And who meditate on His name.*

Please join me then and may the Lord guide and direct you as you daily seek His face.
