1. The one whom God graciously declares to be forgiven and righteous is also called to honor the Lord with their _____.

a. The Lord of Hosts required Joshua to live a life that was according to _____ ways.

b. The Lord of Hosts required Joshua to _____ Him faithfully in the ministry He gave to him.

2. God gave the Jewish priesthood as a symbol (a _____), of the promised Messiah who was to come and accomplish salvation for all who would believe.

a. The Messiah that the Lord would send, was the _____ of the Lord.

“By the Servant of Jehovah in the later prophecies of Isaiah, we are to understand the church with its Head, or rather the Messiah with the church which is His body, sent by Jehovah to reclaim the world from its apostasy and ruin.” - J.A. Alexander

b. The Messiah that the Lord would send, was the _____.

*“The expression is used to point to the ultimate and true descendant of David, son of Jesse, through whom the Lord will fulfill all His covenant promises. It would be in Him that what had been anticipated by their recent deliverance from Babylon and what had been divinely foreshadowed by their priestly duties would be realized.”
- John MacKay*

c. The Messiah that the Lord would send, was the choice _____.

3. The Lord accomplished world changing blessing in the _____ of the Messiah.

a. In that day, the damning iniquity of sinners would be _____.

“It was the day on which Christ suffered and died, and offered Himself a sacrifice for sin; by which one offering of Himself, once for all, He put away sin for ever; it was all done in one day.” - John Gill

b. In that day, the Messianic _____ of Christ began, resulting in Gospel fruitfulness and Christian fellowship.
