

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a
_____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation
accompanied with an _____
description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____
the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed
the _____ and _____
cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather
people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the
_____, that nothing about innate worthiness
was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response
as Jesus states that many are _____, few
are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a
_____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation
accompanied with an _____
description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or
they so hated the orders that they _____
the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed
the _____ and _____
cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s
invitation and the king directs his servants to gather
people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the
_____, that nothing about innate worthiness
was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response
as Jesus states that many are _____, few
are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a
_____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation
accompanied with an _____
description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or
they so hated the orders that they _____
the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed
the _____ and _____
cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s
invitation and the king directs his servants to gather
people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the
_____, that nothing about innate worthiness
was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response
as Jesus states that many are _____, few
are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a
_____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation
accompanied with an _____
description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or
they so hated the orders that they _____
the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed
the _____ and _____
cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s
invitation and the king directs his servants to gather
people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the
_____, that nothing about innate worthiness
was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response
as Jesus states that many are _____, few
are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
 - a. The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - b. The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).

- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
 - a. Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - b. Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- c. If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30

C O R N E R S T O N E
B A P T I S T C H U R C H

“The Wedding Feast”

Matthew 22:1-14

- I. The _____ of heaven is likened to a _____ preparing a wedding feast for his son (22:1-2).
- The king sent servants to invited guests but the guests did not _____ to come (22:3).
 - The king sent other servants to restate the invitation accompanied with an _____ description of the _____ feast (22:4).
- II. The invited guests either _____ the orders/invitation and attended to their own affairs or they so hated the orders that they _____ the king’s messengers (22:5-6).
- Note that the king is only noted to have destroyed the _____ and _____ cities (22:7).
 - Both the disinterested and the murderers are deemed _____ of the king’s invitation and the king directs his servants to gather people from the roads (22:8-9).

- If you had any doubt, it is explicitly noted that the servants invited both the _____ and the _____, that nothing about innate worthiness was required (22:10).

- III. The parable shifts focus from an open invitation to the masses to the need for appropriate individual response as Jesus states that many are _____, few are _____ (22:11-14).

Matthew 20:11-13; 26:49-50; Romans 8:29-30