

Don't Worry?

“vaccine” platform. It is doing so, though just being able to count and to distinguish foreign from self, even having a trace of intelligence, is enough to realise that the modRNA vaccine platform is totally nonsensical and life-threatening. Its two fundamental flaws are the injection of the construction plan for a protein foreign to the body without having any control over which body cells will produce it, in what dose and for how long, and the fact that the cells who are coerced to produce this foreign protein and then present it on their surface will be mistakenly recognised by our immune system as foreign, thus destroyed, much like the rejection of a foreign organ transplanted into you. The alleged modRNA "vaccination" coerces your body to

The modRNA and DNA "vaccines" against SARS-CoV-2, which are no vaccines but gene therapies, literally turn (parts of) your organs into "transplanted organs" that are rejected by your immune system. By the proven contamination with functional bacterial DNA they can do this for years and maybe even for your whole life. And there is a considerable risk that you even hand down this gene therapy to your offspring.

"Currently, the pharmaceutical industry is working on transferring all vaccinations to the modRNA produce a toxin in unknown dose and for an unknown period of time and literally transforms parts of you into an alien. Therefore, the entire modRNA vaccine platform must be banned immediately!"

As we are learning, it clearly appears the powers that be lied to the public from the beginning of CV. Daily Clout reported on 46 pages of FOIA emails between "...CDC Leaders, Dr. Fauci, Dr. Collins, and White House, NIH, HHS, Show They Knew About Vaccine-Induced Myocarditis and Thrombotic Thrombocytopenia..."[1] This means that though they knew about these problems, they continued pushing things and providing actual misinformation/disinformation to the public with mockingbird media backing them up.

These same people continued lying through the pandemic because their goal was to get as many people as possible to take the jab. They continue lying now because they want people to booster up, to continue taking more jabs under the guise of keeping society safe, when in point of fact, the data shows a potential correlation that disavows the safety and efficacy of the jabs. In fact, the correlation between the jab and adverse reactions (including turbo cancers), is seriously growing, but the pharma companies as well as the government and many within the medical field are completely ignoring the anecdotal data. This is not a conspiracy theory.

Of course, as can be expected, the FDA continues to shrug off any concerns brought to them regarding the inclusion of SV40 and plasmid DNA in the serum for the jabs.[2] Moreover, Dr. Pierre Kory has another view regarding these jobs and their potential connection with the increase in "turbo cancers" that we are seeing and he calls it nothing short of a catastrophe.[3] If you take the time read through these reports (especially footnote #3), you'll read about how doctors and nurses are seeing a huge uptick in these cancers. In fact, these cancers are often multiple cancers in the same person and varied. What used to be exceedingly rare, is now common place.

The "safe, effective" mantra has no truth to it. The actual effect of the jab has the exact opposite effect to it and yet, the government pushes on as though their lies are truth and they look at people who have reasonable objections as though they are crazy, demented conspiracy theorists.

The more medical professionals come out with the results of their studies highlighting a potential correlation, the more they are either ignored or vilified. Daily, we read of very young, to older, to very old people who are simply dropping dead like flies. They're involved in doing what people do daily and they collapse for seemingly no reason from heart attacks or major strokes. Folks are continually "baffled" at the unexpected death from an otherwise healthy person.

What is truly maddening is the number of people who seem unable (or unwilling), to realize that there may in fact, be some correlation with their cancers (or other adverse reactions), and the jab. The jab is the common denominator in spite of the varied reactions. While it seems very difficult to prove causation, the possibility of correlation is largely ignored either because they simply refuse to accept the possibility or are so brainwashed that they cannot see the possibility no matter how much anecdotal evidence is provided. I cannot urge readers enough to read the footnoted articles.

How can this be happening while those in our own government continue moving ahead with their plans to "vaccinate" everyone this fall, considering just how many people have died and/or continue suffering from mysterious adverse reactions related to the heart, brain or other organs and from turbo cancers as well? Something is seriously wrong. Is it all connected to the fact that the USA seems to be purposefully being destroyed from within, through a thick blanket of continual lies?

At every turn, society is faced with one major issue after another. It's as though the pandemic was an excuse to create an overwhelming continual set of problems throughout global society that keep us occupied and completely off balance.

Here is just a sampling of what we are dealing with as a global society:

- war with Ukraine/USA vs Russia
- rumors of other wars (China vs Taiwan, etc.)
- potential nuclear war somewhere in the world and threats thereof
- possible peace in the Middle East - but maybe not, depends on the day and who's talking
- mounting economic problems worldwide, including continuing inflation and food shortages
- oil has reached $95/barrel, soon to be $150/barrel according to J P Morgan
- constant talk of coming "smart cities, which will control people's ability to travel
- digital IDs to keep track of our movements
- "safe acts," essentially curtailing freedom of speech worldwide via the Internet
- tech companies canceling people's channels - guilty until proven innocent

- constant insistence that climate change will destroy the earth
- pushing fake meat and fake food in general
- threats of a huge global food collapse on the way
- major push for digital currencies to replace all paper money and means of payment options

On top of this, we have thousands of foreign aliens illegally walking into the USA through our open southern border. Instead of securing that border, the Biden Administration is welcoming them with open arms and is granting them "temporary" VISAS that would allow them to work here in this country. Unemployment in the USA is already very high, so having more workers is not going to help, but will make it worse. In essence, the people landing here will push Americans out of the job market. Moreover, none of these people illegally entering the USA are given health checks, including the CV job that many to most in the USA were forced to take or else.

We are constantly warned of upcoming economic collapse, which includes inflation (because of increasing fuel prices). Commercial and residential real estate will experience another potential collapse. None of this is good news for anyone except the ultra-rich. They will gain more wealth at our expense because of how they can position themselves in society and in the stock market.

I realize many have been warning about all of this for months. The problem is that while the writing on the wall can be clearly seen, it takes time for the dominoes to begin to fall, but once they begin, they fall mightily and quickly. We can look ahead and see that 2024 is likely not going to be a good year for anyone who is not already very wealthy. The rest of us will suffer to some degree.

So it is not difficult to understand the major effort in play to take down the current global economy. Once that occurs, the "great reset" has neared completion and ready to replace everything that existed before it.

I was talking to a brother in Christ at church this past Sunday while we were on security. He noted that it is more difficult for him to be in the "in-between" area between the two situations (what was and what will be). It's the same with me. But that's where we are right now. We are moving toward collapse but we are not there yet. Because we are not there yet, it is difficult to know exactly what it will look and feel like or how long it will take to replace what exists now.

All of this can be worrisome and I'm simply not good at casting all my cares on the Lord (1 Peter 5:7). It takes work on my part and sometimes I still do not fully succeed.

5 ...be clothed with humility, for “God resists the proud,

But gives grace to the humble.”

6 Therefore humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time, 7 casting all your care upon Him, for He cares for you. (NKJV)

So the key here is to seek humility, which requires effort on our part. I'm not that humble. I can be when I put the effort in and that's what God is expecting me to do, as Peter commands. Depending upon your personality, it can be easy or difficult to be humble. For me, it takes a deliberate and concerted effort to go before the Lord, admit my shortcomings, admit that I like to control my life instead of Him and leave my cares and concerns there at the altar with Him.

When I face the mountain in front of me of all the bulleted items listed above, I know God does not want me to worry over those things. I know that He does not want those things to control me. Jesus told us in one section of the Sermon on the Mount that we should not waste our time worrying about what's going to happen tomorrow.

25 Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink; nor about your body, what you will put on. Is not life more than food and the body more than clothing? 26 Look at the birds of the air, for they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they? 27 Which of you by worrying can add one cubit to his stature? (Matthew 6:25-27)

He goes onto provide other examples of why we should not worry. Intellectually I understand what He's saying and my inner being wants to live like that, but it is tremendously difficult for me to let go of things. By letting go, it doesn't mean I don't make plans about certain things. By "letting go," it doesn't mean I go through life with a "fa la la la" attitude that is oblivious to potential problems. What it does mean is that I don't allow worry to cause me to freeze up, to rob me of wisdom and discernment, or to cause me to curl up like a ball overwhelmed with fear.

Because of what God says to me in His Word, I have an obligation to continue pursuing truth. I also have an obligation to push the negativity away and the only way I know how to do that is by continual praise. I must be deliberate in my praise of Him and folks, I'll be the first to admit that oftentimes, when I begin praising Him, it feels so absolutely fake, as though I'm simply saying words. Eventually though, I find myself getting caught up in praise and focusing more on Him and not on the circumstances.

It's like physically exercising. I don't know too many people who absolutely love it. I certainly don't. However, I know that when I involve myself in resistance training, I feel better overall. My muscles appreciate the workout even though they may groan at me when I start. Eventually, they come along and give me something back so that I can keep going. At 66, it's not that easy but it's beneficial because with age comes muscle depletion and atrophy. I have to deliberately work to counter the issues of aging.

It's really the same with our relationship with God in Christ. We need to work at it. We need to push ourselves. If you have a personality like mine, you'll need to push yourself more than the person who naturally has a more optimistic approach to life.

The growing challenges we are all facing in this world will not go away by ignoring them or by worrying about them. In either case, they will overwhelm. At least some of the things we are warned about may never come to pass in our lifetime (depending upon how long each of us lives). Others may arrive sooner. In the end, God does not want us overcome or overwhelmed by any circumstances. He wants us to rise above and we can only do that by entering into a sincere routine of praise, which increases our faith in who He is and His guidance.

Reject the world. Reject worry. Replace it with praise and a focus on God. You will receive wisdom and discernment and an ability to rise above the circumstances that want to sweep over you.
